Introduction

The parish of Twerton has two cemeteries:

- the church's graveyard
- the municipal cemetery at Bellotts Road

The scope of this volume is limited to those buried in the latter. A separate volume deals with the church's graveyard.

The cemetery is on Bellotts Road, off the Lower Bristol Road, Bath. It is bounded on the southern side by the railway and on the western side by the one-way portion of Bellotts Road from Oldfield Park. A path of the eastern side goes past an engineering workS, along the side of the railway up to Brook Road and a bridge over the railway.

In common with other municipal cemeteries, it came about following agitation in the late 1850s about the cost of burial in Anglican graveyards and the lack of provision for non-Anglicans.

This was compounded by a nation-wide investigation into the state of graveyards which led the government to force the closure of graveyards that had become full and to impose restrictions on the spacing of graves and the number of burials per grave.

As reported in the Bath Chronicle of Thu 20 Jan 1881 p8 the Twerton Burial Board proposed purchasing land in the Hayes, Wells Road. However by April of that year it had decided not to purchase the land "it being too near dwelling-houses, and this was prohibited by an Act of Parliament, except with the consent of every occupant of the adjoining premises was secured". Instead they proposed buying land next to the GWR railway in East Twerton from the Bath Municipal Charities.

From the Bath Chronicle of Thu 17 Nov 1881 p7:

TWERTON BURIAL BOARD.—At a vestry meeting held at Twerton on Thursday evening, to nominate a candidate for the vacancy caused in this board by the removal of Mr. B. Thackeray, the vicar, the Rev. W Stokes Shaw, presided. By a unanimous vote Mr. Thomas Withy was chosen as the member. It was further resolved that only one chapel should be built in the new cemetery.

Other cemeteries administered by burial boards which had provision for both Anglicans and non-Anglicans (but separately) had built two chapels. For example, St Michael's, Lyncombe & Widcombe and St James', and Locksbrook cemeteries have two chapels.

From the Bath Chronicle of Thu 1 Jun 1882 p7:

TWERTON NEW CEMETERY.—The Twerton Burial Board at its last meeting considered the following tenders for the building of a chapel, lodge and entrance gates:—R. Mann, £978; C. and W. Mould, £864; J. Bladwell, £846 10s.; W. H. Hewlett, £830 5s.; R. C. Jarvis, £772 7s. 8d.; E, Gay, £766; G. Cross, £742 18s.; Morgan and Lovell, £714; A. Bernas, £679 15s.; T. Laver, £603 15s. 6d.; W. Emery, £599; E, Chancellor (accepted), £578 6s. The architects are Messrs. Browne and Gill. Mr. Chancellor will commence the work forthwith.

This southern part of the ground was reserved for Anglicans and this was consecrated by the Bishop of Bath & Wells on Mon 28 Aug 1882. From the Bath Chronicle of Thu 31 Aug 1882 p3:

CONSECRATION OF A NEW BURIAL GROUND AT TWERTON.—For some time past the Twerton-Avon Burial Board has been laying out a new cemetery at East Twerton, within an easy distance of St. Peter's Church, and on the north side of the Great Western Railway. The ground—two acres—has been purchased from the trustees of St. John's Hospital, Bath. The entrance of on the north, and a chapel, 27 feet by 17 feet, has been built there. The southern half of the ground is set aside for the burial of members of the Church of England, and this portion was consecrated by the Lord Bishop of the Diocese on Monday morning. Service was first held in the parish church, the Revs. Preb. Wood, J. Murray Dixon, W. Stokes Law (vicar), and C. Bazell (curate) being present. His Lordship preached a sermon appropriate to the occasion, pointing out that the alwavs had attached importance to the decent burial of their dead. The providing a burial place was not only a tribute to human nature and a pledge of affection, but was a reminder to those who were living that they were approaching nearer to the grave, and that Jesus Christ himself rose again from the dead. At the conclusion, the Bishop and clergy, accompanied by the church choir, adjourned to the cemetery where the special service was gone through. A procession marched slowly round the portion consecrated, the words of Psalm xlix. and cxv. being repeated at the same time. The sentence of consecration was afterward read by the Registrar, and duly signed by His Lordship. Prayer and signing of Psalm xxxix. followed, and the benediction concluded the ceremony. There were several members of the Burial Board among the congregation.

From the Bath Chronicle of Thu 7 Sep 1882 p7: TWERTON CEMETERY.—The Twerton Burial Board on Thursday elected Mr. W Bailey, gardener, Bath, to be caretaker of Twerton Cemetery. The applicants numbered 14.

From the Bath Chronicle of Thu 22 Feb 1883 p3:

TWERTON-ON-AVON BURIAL BOARD. A correspondent writes to call attention to the great hardship inflicted on the poor by this Board in charging double fees for burial on Sundays, when the poor are often able to obtain the service of bearers gratuitously. A man named Jordan was buried in Twerton Cemetery on Sunday, Feb. 11th, at half-past three o'clock. A little dirt only was thrown in to cover the coffin, and the grave remained partly filled with water till Wednesday morning before it was properly filled up. Is not such neglect, asks, verv inhumane and unpardonable?

From the Bath Chronicle pf Thu 23 Jun 1892 p7:

TWERTON CEMETERY.—Prebendary Stokes-Shaw presided at a vestry meeting at the Village Hall, Twerton, on Thursday, "to consider the subject of proposed alteration of feed for the appropriation of graves at the Cemetery." The Vicar explained that under the scale of fees which had hitherto existed, people postponed the appropriation of graves until after the first interment in order to obtain the ground space and the after interments at a cheaper rate than in the case of those who appropriated in the first instance, which was not fair to the Burial Board or to others. An amended appropriation scale of fees therefore been drawn up so as not to cause any loss to the Burial Board. The new scale contained a clause to the effect that "any common grave can be converted into a family grave at any time within 14 years, on payment of 10s. 6d for the appropriation of the ground before or at the first interment: 20s. for the appropriation of the ground before or at the second interment; 30s. 6d. before or at the third interment; 40s. 6d. ditto before or at the fourth interment. These fees are for the appropriation only, and do not include the burial or interment fees." Upon the motion of Mr. T. Carr, seconded by Mr. Newman, the new scale was adopted without discussion.

From the Bath Chronicle of Thu 19 Apr 1888 p7:

NOISY VESTRY MEETING AT TWERTON On Thursday night a vestry meeting of a very animated character was held at the Parish Hall, Twerton, presided over by the Vicar (the Rev. W. S. Shaw). The meeting was called for the election of a member of the Burial Board, in the place of Mr. Crump, who has resigned, though it was contended by some of the parishioners that as Mr, Crump was not a ratepayer he was not legally a member of the Board, and that therefore there was no necessity for him to resign. Both side had beaten up their supporters, the room was well filled, and the feeling very warm.-Mr. Luton proposed the election of Mr. Mark Wheeler. This was seconded by Mr. Jefferies, supported by Mr. Wall.—Mr. Kendall was proposed by Mr. J. Carr, and second by Mr. Asher. On being put to the vote, Mr.

Wheeler was elected. The feeling grew so warm that one gentleman so far forgot himself-though only after most offensive provocation—as to promise to another summary castigation. Happily, for the peace of the meeting this item, which was not on the agenda, was not "discussed."-A question was raised as to the burials on Sundays, and the raising of the fee to 10s. on that day. This, it was urged, was a source of dissatisfaction to some οf parishioners. But the Vicar said he was unable to attend to the burial services and his other duties at the same time. -Mr. Wall said he always understood that it was the Vicar's duty to attend to burials when he was required.—The Vicar retorted, amidst laughter, that when Mr. Wall became his successor as vicar of Twerton he would find that he was not able to be in two places at once.—To this, Mr. Wall replied that he should not be Vicar but Bishop of Twerton.—Mr. Wheeler, before the election, stated, in answer to a question, that he would do what he could to obtain a reduction in the fees; but on this point Mr. Kendall preferred to express no opinion.

In 1905 there was an attempt by the Council to take over control and administration of the burial boards. A conference was held in the Guildhall on 7 Nov 1905 presided over by the Corporation's Finance Committee.

The parish's register has:

By Order of Her Majesty in Privy Council held on 2nd May 1881 at Windsor, Burials are ordered to be discontinued forthwith and entirely in the Parish Church of Twerton on Avon in the county of Somerset after the 1st of Decr 1881 & also in the churchyard except as follows: In such Vaults and Walled Graves as are now existing in the Churchyard burials may be allowed, on condition that any coffin buried therein be separately enclosed by stone work or brick work properly cemented." Extension of time has ... twice granted & lastly postponed, —

"In the Parish Church-yard of Twerton on Avon in the County of Somerset to the 1st day of September 1882."

There were 8,436 burials from the opening in 1882.

In 1937, the cemetery at Haycombe became the only 'open' cemetery in Bath administered by the Council. Those who had bought rights to a plot could still be buried but the number of burials in this cemetery diminished.

Transcription

The original burial registers are held by B&NES Bereavement Services which has scanned all the registers that it holds. Access to the registers has been refused on the grounds that to do so would breach the Data Protection Act. Clarification was sought to determine whether or not access would even be given. Matthew Smith, Divisional Director of Environmental Services for B&NES, has stated (email of 20-Jan-2014) that "I can see no circumstances under which copies of the scanned images of burial registers held by Bereavement Services can be made available".

However, scanned images of the indexes to the burial registers were made available. These have the names, date of burial and burial location. They omit the ages and abodes, information which is in the Draft registers themselves. The entries have been transcribed. For the ages, the corresponding death registration has been sought to determine the age. In addition, where there is a grant of probate or administration of the estate the National Probate Calendar has the abode and date of death.

Survey

A survey of cemetery was undertaken in late 2013 and early 2014 to determine whether or not a memorial exists. Any supplementary information from the inscription has been added to the information from the burial register indexes.

Some inscriptions have references to individuals buried elsewhere.

There are two sections: consecrated and unconsecrated. The rows have letters that start at 'A' at the eastern side, go to 'Z' and then 'AA' onwards. The plot numbers start at 1 at the southern extremity of each section. Two rows of trees run east to west. An anomaly is that, while the row of trees might be expected to be the boundary between the consecrated and unconsecrated section, the start of the unconsecrated section is actually south of this row of trees.

A narrow turf path runs from the gate southwards, between rows S and T. There are also paths along western, southern and eastern sides, a few graves from the boundary.

In the consecrated area some graves in the first few rows are slightly offset from the position suggested by the row letter.

In the consecrated section about a third of graves have memorials and in the unconsecrated section about 30% of graves have memorials. About 21% of those buried have names on memorials.

Occupants

The abodes show that while there are many from Twerton, there is a significant number from nearby Oldfield Park.

With the occupation found for about 11% of the males, the vast majority are one of: labourer, craftsman and trade. The percentage in the Army, Navy and professions is much lower than for those cemeteries, such as Bath Abbey and Lansdown, were the fees were high.

One part of the cemetery has the graves of the Carr family who ran a cloth mill at Twerton.

Of the labourers, many worked at the cloth mills and for the railway.

The percentage aged under 11 is 26% and over 70 is 33%. This is in contrast with, for example, Bath Abbey Cemetery where the comparable figures are 8.7% and 46%.

From the development of the maps showing the names for each plot, many have been found to be common graves.

Maps

The following pages have maps of the cemetery showing the locations of the memorials. Names in grey are for plots where there are no memorials. Where a memorial or a grave has two surnames, both are given. Where there are three or more surnames, the first surname is given followed by 'etc'.
